Radio Planting Missionaries - Thanks for your prayers & support!

Getting the Gospel Out

The Good News needs to go beyond the walls of our churches

The Gospel works especially when it is amplified. We see this all the time through Christian radio. Just recently in Uganda, Missionary Keith Stensaas told us of a pastor who called him and said how much he has learned by listening to their radio station. He has asked Keith to come and teach him to preach the Truth as he does. What a blessing! However, we find that radio is not the only tool available at our disposal in amplifying the message that we preach. Video also has a tremendous impact for ministry. In March we were blessed to assist the Cornerstone Baptist Church with a video streaming system. This four camera setup allows them to not only to record but to stream their church services live to the world. It is a good thing when those in the church can hear the Word preached- how much better is it when others can hear and see the powerful preaching of God's Word! Shortly after this project I had a surgery to remove my gallbladder. I would welcome your prayers as I am recovering and seeking to be in good health to do the work of God around the world.
